CAN PUPPY LOVE LEAD TO ADULT ROMANCE?

Sarah McLeish had harbored a mad crush for bad boy Adam Preston for as long as she could remember, starting the day his family moved in next door to hers. Adam was dark and brooding, but he was also funny and good looking and had a smile that could light up the night. Sarah was immediately drawn to him. He was the guy who was always into something and somehow managed to charm his way out of it.

TRAGEDY LEADS TO LOVE:

When Adam's mom dies suddenly and Sarah's dad leaves her mother for another woman, it was only natural that their remaining parents turn to each other for comfort. Sarah was horrified that the boy of her dreams might one day become her stepbrother. How could she hide the feelings she had for him and she was sure he had for her? Her fears came to fruition the day Adam's dad asked her mom to get married.

REPRESSED DESIRES LEAD TO HEART BREAK:

Ten years later, Adam hasn't done much growing up. He's still devil may care: a bartender in a rock and roll club with little ambition or direction in life. The rub is, he now has a five year old daughter named Kelly, the result of a one night fling with a girl he barely remembers. Thank god for his stepsister, Sarah, who thinks of Kelly as her own and spends as much time raising the little girl as her undependable father.

BAD THINGS COME WITH BLONDE HAIR:

Enter advertising executive, Heather Ingram, blonde, beautiful, ambitious, and determined to mold handsome Adam Preston into the man she can spend her life with. When Heather is offered the career opportunity of a lifetime in Paris, she tries to convince Adam to come and bring Kelly along. Sarah can only watch as Adam struggles with the decision of what to do.

She can't tell him what to do, can she?

She is, after all, just his stepsister, but in her heart she longs to be so much more.
